

Is it a requirement to have good English speaking and writing skills?

Because most digital applications and media literacy concepts are in English and there is no accurate translation for them in arabic yet, we advise applicants to have at least basic level of English.